Can you please tell me how I can load system files at startup (like Asuraview, Moonlight, Enca, and Arch)? Do I have to put them in the boot folder, do I have to copy them to the boot folder? ../My best regards and congratulations on your purchase. For my install I think I want to use system files at startup, but if I have to do it manually, how do I do it? . My best regards and congratulations on your purchase. I need to use system files at startup. The best way to copy directories from a liveCD/DVD session (recording or mounted image) to a mounted CD/DVD image is to use the cp/mv commands with the --copy-contents option. ** Copyright 1998-2020, International Business Machines By downloading this software, you agree to this license..
